A. Personal Statement

(max 100 words)

Briefly describe why your experience and qualifications make you particularly well-suited for a career in sleep research.

B. Positions and Honors

List in chronological order previous positions, concluding with the present position. List any honors.

Include your AASM membership number. Include present membership in any professional organizations, editorial boards, institutional or governmental boards and in particular any AASM task forces or committees.

C. Contribution to Science

We realize that YIRF applicants are early-career scientists. Applicants with one or two publications should summarize the key findings of their paper(s) and the importance for this section. Applicants with no publications should describe their efforts on other peoples' papers and projects (e.g., I used this method, I conducted the literature review for this paper, I care for all the animals in this lab, etc.). If an applicant has no actual research or thesis experience, he or she should describe their training to date. A list of your publications should go here.

D. Research Support

List all funded ongoing and completed research projects with the source of funding, dates of funding, and title of project. Briefly indicate the overall goals of the projects and your role on the project (PI, Co-Investigator, Graduate Student, etc.). Do not include number of person months or direct costs.

E. Candidate's Letter: (max 2 pages)

Describe future career goals and objectives, particularly as they relate to a career in sleep research. Also describe your current mentors and mentoring plan (if any).

II. ABSTRACT (max 250 words)

Include an abstract reporting results of your current study: Study Objectives, Methods, Results, and Conclusions. Abstracts previously presented or submitted at other meetings are welcome. Alternatively, you may present your detailed future research plans.

III. CANDIDATE'S LETTER (max 2 pages)

Describe future career goals and objectives, particularly as they relate to a career in sleep research. Also describe your current mentors and mentoring plan (if any).
